US year to be urt. Mid. Dist. of Tenoci 20-tuesda The New York Herald reports the drygoods market on the 11th inst. as follows: The market for domestic cotten goods remains in about the same condition that has obtained for some weeks past, having been just as quiet since as it was before Slection. In view of the advanced state of the season and the depression of cotton, combined with the low price of gold, holders are in some cases becoming auxious to reduce their stock, and with this view have marked down prices of same of the leading styles of brown musins about 1/2 per yard; but those who would not buy prior to the reduction they did before prices were reduced. The reducing prices in order to stimulate the demand is generally a poor expedient, as it reldom insures that result. Notice to Show Cause—In Bankruptcy
